Dr. sc. Saša Poljanec-Borić
Scientific Advisor
Institut Ivo Pilar/Institute Ivo Pilar
Zagreb, Croatia

Dear Professor Poljanec-Borić,

On behalf of the College of Environment and Design at The University of Georgia, I am pleased to extend to you an invitation to deliver a lecture in our Seminar on Issues in International Heritage Conservation. If you accept, we would like to request that you to focus on heritage conservation in Croatia and the Southern Europe region, particularly addressing issues of resources for heritage, the impact of tourism, and commemorative hesitation. The lecture would be delivered via Zoom on April 13 beginning at 12:45 EDT. We hope you will be able to accept this invitation.

We believe your knowledge and expertise will greatly enhance this seminar. It has been our privilege to collaborate with you during the past decade through the formal cooperative agreement between the University of Georgia and the Institute of Social Sciences Ivo Pilar, for which you have served as overall coordinator on behalf of the Institute. You have visited our campus on several occasions and have collaborative interdisciplinary working relationships with a number of University of Georgia faculty, staff and administrators.

I look forward to hearing from you and to have you join our seminar on April 13.

Sincerely,

James K. Reap
Professor and Program Coordinator
